The image shows a preview of a printed document, likely a book or a report, with a large green button labeled "VIEW" overlaid at the bottom center. The document text is mostly illegible due to the low resolution and the overlay, but it appears to be a multi-column layout with various headings and paragraphs. The button is a solid green rectangle with the word "VIEW" in white, bold, uppercase letters.

Notice on the right side under the title Suggested Records, the 2nd one down says, "New England, The Great Migration and the The Great Migration Begins, 1620 -1635

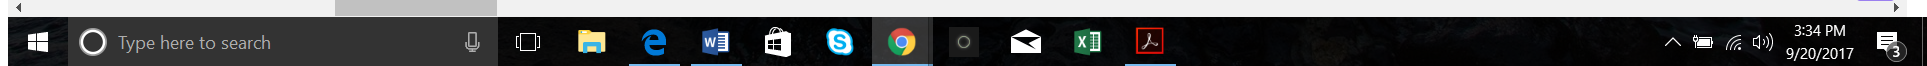

When I clicked on it and read the story, all I could make out is that Isaac Perkins was mentioned (eleven years after his death) in a story about some property in question. Isaac Perkins part in the story I can only guess that at one time he had owned it before selling it to the person in the story.

Now try to follow Isaac Perkins branch. I did not do a very good job here as I cut off a generation on page 2, left side, and again on page 3, left side, so counting them I arrived at 12 Greats to get to Grandparents Isaac & Alice Perkins.
